

THE PPM 50 RAILCAR ON THE STOURBRIDGE BRANCH LINE

PPM 50 at its testing facility on the Chasewater Railway prior to delivery to the Stourbridge Branch

Stourbridge MP Lynda Waltho waves the green flag at the official launch of the Sunday service which commenced operations in December 2005

Down the branch approaching the Town station, the pleasant rural setting of what is actually a heavily used suburban railway line

At Stourbridge Junction passengers disembark in order to use the cross-platform connection to Birmingham-bound trains

A disabled passenger, Mrs Vera Cox, expressing her delight at the easy and secure transfer from railcar to station platform

A scene showing service integration, with the PPM railcar on Platform 1 at Stourbridge Junction awaiting passengers from an arriving Birmingham to Worcester mainline service